

Become Assistant or Associate Professor of Veterinary Clinical Pathology

The Faculty of Veterinary Medicine of the Université de Montréal is the only French-language institution of its kind in North America. It stands out for the excellence of its research and training on its two campuses one in Saint-Hyacinthe, at the heart of Quebec's agri-food region, and the other in Rimouski, within a rich coastal environment. A driver of change, it prepares tomorrow's leaders through a "One Health" approach that brings together innovation, biodiversity, and sustainability.

The Department of Pathology and Microbiology encourages transdisciplinary collaboration that integrates the "One Health/ concept into its teaching and research activities. We also aim to restore, protect, and promote the health of domestic animals, livestock, and wildlife. The department's professors share a common goal: to provide students, interns and veterinarians with high-quality theoretical, practical, and clinical training across various fields of activity.
